

Medeltidsveckan, the Medieval Week on Gotland is one of Sweden's oldest and most well known cultural events. The Festival has attracted visitors from far and wide since 1984. 8 days, Sunday - Sunday, always the 32nd week of the year.

HOST AT THE MARKET

As a Host at the Market you give our visitors information in a pleasant and helpful way, and you also sell pins and hand out brochures at Medieval Week's marketplace. In addition, you answer questions and give information regarding events during Medieval Week and general questions about the World Heritage city of Visby.

TO VOLUNTEER AS A HOST AT THE MARKET YOU NEED TO:

- Be fond of talking to our visitors and provide information.
- Enjoy selling merchandise.
- Have a good local knowledge regarding the areas where the events during Medieval Week take place.

WORKING AS A HOST AT THE MARKET INVOLVES:

- Informing visitors about events during Medieval Week, the marketplace and the World Heritage city of Visby.
- Answering "tourist questions" (You receive a booklet from us at the start of the festival containing a FAQ and maps).
- Working during the day, 4 shifts of 4 hours, during the Week.
- Working in a team of at least 2 people, never alone.
- Helping keep things tidy around the marketplace.
- Having at least 1-2 days off during the Week.
